BULLETIN

Anguilla National Trust's December Bird Count

The Anguilla National Trust, with the help of the Department of Environment, will be conducting bird counts at Anguilla's saltponds this Wednesday, 21 December. The bird count involves recording the numbers and species of birds at each pond.

The Trust welcomes the help of volunteers, whether they be avid bird watchers or people who just enjoy being outside. Individuals who are interested in learning more about the counts and the methods used or who are interested in taking part in the programme are asked to contact the Trust at 497 5297.

About the Anguilla National Trust

The Anguilla National Trust was established in 1993 to act as custodian of Anguilla's heritage, preserving and promoting the island's natural environment and its archaeological, historical and cultural resources for present and future generations. It is in the business of ensuring the sustainability of Anguilla's heritage. The ANT is a dynamic people-centred organisation working in collaboration with public and private sector entities to manage Anguilla's natural social and cultural heritage.
